

Rent-A-Grandson

Hello, I'm Anthony Peters, the owner, and technician, of "Rent-A-Grandson." I have had plenty of experience with computers, phones, and tablets. If you can think it, I've probably worked with it and I am willing to help you with any problems you might be having. My company started with a funny story. My Grandma Marilyn one day called me over to help her with internet issues. She said that she had called tech support and they said "Well it's a little complicated, do you have a grandson who could help you?" From that moment I realized that a lot of people needed a grandson to help them along in their tech journey and that I could help fulfill that need. Send me a message on my website:
